

Short CV

Argyro Bourou received her first degree (BA) on Greek language and literature from National and Kapodistrian University of Athens in 2003. She received her Master's degree on Special Education – Speech Therapy in 2006 (grade: Excellent) and her second degree (BA) in 2008 (grade: Excellent) from the Department of Primary Education of National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. She speaks Greek (native), English, French and Spanish.

Since 2007, she has been working as a teacher in private and public schools of primary education. For several years, she was working in schools for children with special needs. Currently, she works in Ralleia Experimental School of Piraeus, where she is responsible for the one-class school. She has participated in various national projects concerning environmental and cultural education, some of which have been presented in seminars for teachers, as well as European projects (Erasmus, E-twinning etc.). She has attended and participated in several conferences, concerning school violence and children's social and behavioral problems.